SALISBURY OPTIMIST GULL CLASSIC

The women's tournament began in 1978 and has been held virtually every year since. In the 1990s, host Salisbury State has finished as the runner-up four times and has won the championship the other four years. The Sea Gulls have a total of seven first place finishes and eight second place finishes. Salisbury State defeated Newport News in last year's championship game, 89-78. Last year's tournament also included Cabrini and North Carolina Wesleyan. SSU's Amy Cooke earned tournament MVP honors with 29 points and 23 assists in two games, including 13 assists in the championship victory.

Salisbury State University and the NCAA encourage and promote good sportsmanship by student-athletes, coaches and spectators. We request your cooperation by supporting the participants and officials in a positive manner. Profanity, racial and ethnic comments or other intimidating actions directed at officials, student-athletes, coaches or team representatives will not be tolerated and are grounds for removal from the site of competition. Also you are reminded that consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages is prohibited.

THE OPTIMIST CREED

Promise Yourself -

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.

To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and to expect only the best.

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.
